OSU faculty help author Climate Assessment Report

Two Ohio State FAES faculty members are among the co-authors of the latest U.S. National Climate Assessment, a government-commissioned examination of the effects of climate change on the environment, agriculture, energy production and use, land and water resources, human health and welfare and biological diversity, among other topics. Brent Sohngen from the Department of Agricultural, Environmental and Development Economics co-authored the forestry chapter, and Rattan Lal from the School of Environment and Natural Resources served as an advisory member for the publication.

The Women's Fund of Central Ohio 2015 Grant Cycle is open soon! Interested in applying? Read below for more information.

What are the steps to applying for a grant? First, a Letter of Intent (LOI) must be submitted by Monday, July 7, 2014 at 5pm. LOI forms are available on the website beginning June 2, 2014. Second, based on the LOI, qualified applicants will be invited to submit a full application. Click here for the full grant calendar.

Are there specific areas of attention our program must address? Yes! The Women's Fund of Central Ohio funds social change programs in three priority areas: Economic Self-Sufficiency for Women, Leadership for Women, and Lifeskills for Girls.

Is there anyone out there who can help me write an effective application? Of course! We will host grant workshops to help with LOIs and grant applications. We recommend that applicants attend one workshop. Additionally, the Women's Fund also offers technical assistance for all applicants that are invited into the full application process. Click here for the full grant calendar.

Where can I find the Letter of Intent form and grant cycle news? At womensfundcentralohio.org you can find all the grant cycle and Women's Fund news to keep you in the loop!

If you have any questions or concerns about the grant application process, please contact Sarah Pariser at spariser@womensfundcentralohio.org or 614-225-9926.
